

School is over for a week. It is a rainy Friday afternoon.

Fanny and Jenny are in Fanny's room to make plans for the weekend. They are alone. All their friends are busy for the next two days.

Markus is in Leipzig. He and his grandfather visit the exhibition "Partner and Horse" there. They go there every year because they are great horse freaks. Markus loves to look after his ponies and to clean the stables.

Dustin and his parents have gone to Hanover. Dustin takes part in a skateboarding course. Skateboarding is Dustin's favourite hobby and he can do fast and dangerous tricks on his board.

Meggy is busy, too. She has got a ticket for the next "Scooter" concert and she watches the videos of the group every day.

Only Fabian is in town but he had an accident some weeks ago. He broke his right foot, so he has to stay at home. He plays games with his best friend, the computer.

Fanny and Jenny are thinking about what they can do. Perhaps they can go to the cinema – there are some new films on the programme. Or they can go shopping or swimming in the indoor swimming pool. Fanny decides to go shopping because Meggy's birthday is next week and they don't know what to give her. There is a new department store in town and they offer maxi-CDs for low prices today. Perhaps they can buy one. But at first they have to finish the poster for the drama club.
